The new website for the Gloucester, Cheltenham and Tewkesbury Joint Core Strategy (JCS) was launched early June 2009 and is a one-stop resource for all JCS matters. It includes an up-to-date timetable and information on forthcoming events, publications to date, the evidence base, an online consultation system and an interactive map. There is also a facility for members of the public to sign up to future JCS notifications.

Consultation System

A new online consultation system has been developed for the JCS. All future consultations will be made available through the system, which includes a facility for members of the public to view text and make comments online.

The system will also be used to keep a comprehensive database of individuals, organisations and stakeholders who are interested in the development of the JCS, and who will be kept up-to-date with progress and notified of forthcoming consultations. If you would like to add your details to the database, please visit www.gct-jcs.org and click on 'public consultation' from the main menu.

Consultation Statement

The Consultation Statement was adopted in March 2009. The Statement sets out who will be consulted, how they will be contacted and when they will be contacted during the production of the JCS. The approach to consultation described in this Statement corresponds with the authorities' Statement of Community Involvements.

Public Consultation

The JCS Issues and Key Questions consultation document will be published later this year for a period of public consultation. It identifies key issues facing the area and asks questions about how a vision and strategy could be developed to tackle them. The consultation document will be available to download from the website and you will be able to make comments using the online consultation system. Check the website soon for a list of consultation events and exhibitions.
